SHAPPARD PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER

SEE CHANCE OF SETTLEMENT IN MILL STRIKE

Union and Company Officials Meet in Hotel Harding This Afternoon.

Possibility of a settlement in the McMillen Feed Mills strike loomed today as top company officials and international representatives of the striking UAW employes met this afternoon in Hotel Harding "to talk things over."

Present at the meeting were Robert Fletcher, Ft. Wayne, Ind., president of the Central Soya company, parent organization of the McMillen Feed Mills, William Thale, McMillen plant manager and Roy N. Lovett, local personnel manager.

Representing the UAW were Richard Gosser, Toledo, international director for the northwestern district of Ohio; Orville Beemer, also of Toledo, international representative; William Everly of the Universal Cooler plant here, president of Local 750 of the UAW; Joseph Stafford, president of the McMillen unit of Local 750 and members of the McMillen unit negotiating committee.

Picketing Peaceful

Picketing continued peaceably at the plant today despite a brief flurry of activity about 4 a. m. this morning which resulted in the arrest of a picket by police. Held in city jail for investigation this morning was John E. Frankevic, 32, of Toledo. According to the UAW he was being transported to the plant to take his place on the picket line and was picked up when he stepped out of the automobile at the plant.

Police Chief William E. Marks who made the arrest said the man was trespassing on company property, a violation of the provisions of the restraining order issued in common pleas court Saturday.

Richard Gosser, international UAW representative claimed this morning that Frankevic was beaten by the police and further that "Marion police have gone too far and have beaten pickets wrongfully." He said the UAW will file suit against the local police naming Edward C. Lamb, Toledo attorney as the representative for the UAW in the suit. Mr. Lamb is expected to arrive in Marion today, Gosser said.

Denies Beating

Chief Marks denied that Frankevic had been beaten.

Meanwhile in common pleas court his morning Judge Paul D. Smith fined George Woods of 556

DRIVERS' LICENSE FINAL RUSH IS ON

Marion Sales Office To Be Open Till 9 Tonight.

The typical "last minute" rush to renew automobile drivers' licenses was in full swing here and throughout the state yesterday and today with scores of motorists wanting to get under the wire by midnight tonight.

W. C. Bailey, registrar, reported that approximately 1,000 drivers' licenses were sold here yesterday, which included chauffeur and regular driving permits. Motorists began arriving at 8 a. m. today and by 10 o'clock between 300 and 400 licenses had been issued. Motorists filled the room constantly and lined up outside awaiting their turn. More than 1,000 licenses are expected to be issued today.

The office, located on North Main street across from St. Mary Catholic church, will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight.

Edward T. Fogo, state registrar of motor vehicles, in an Associated Press dispatch today explained that motorists have until April 1 to renew driver licenses without taking new examinations but he emphasized that it would be illegal for them to drive before that time unless they obtain new permits. He predicted the total of new driver licenses would exceed 3,000,000.

Ohio Highway Crisis Viewed

Jenkins Institutes Suit, Saying Legislative Tinkering May Have Wrecked Dept.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—Legislative tinkering with the gasoline tax may have wrecked the state highway department financially, and thrown $9,600,000 annually into the coffers of the municipalities and the counties, Atty General Hugh S. Jenkins announced today.

So serious is the situation that Jenkins said a suit would be instituted immediately in the Ohio supreme court to straighten out the situation.

Should the court hold that the new legislation does what Jenkins fears it does, the legislature probably will be called into special session.

The trouble stems from the legislature's effort to amend the distribution provision of maintenance and repair funds raised by the 1½ cent gasoline tax so some of the money could be used for marking streets in municipalities and construction of sidewalks outside city limits.

Amendment Blamed

Either through error or design an amendment was written into the bill, sponsored by Rep. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton), to make the entire three cent gasoline tax available only for maintenance and repair instead of half the amount as has been the custom for many years.

The amendment was written into the bill by the house highways committee of which Rep. Walter Tarr (R-Hamilton) is chairman. Deddens is understood to disavow responsibility for the amendment.

State Highway Director Murray D. Shaffer said that if the court sustained the amendment, the state would lose $5,400,000 a year which it now has for construction purposes, but the counties and municipalities would gain an equal amount for maintenance and repair work.

The townships, which now receive $4,200,000 a year for construction, would be cut out entirely, their share also going to the counties and municipalities.

On the basis of the increased funds the counties would receive $4,365,500 more a year and the municipalities $5,234,500.

Repeal by Implication

Jenkins pointed out there was no outright repeal of the present statute distributing the 1½ cents gas tax used for construction, but that the amendment in the maintenance and repair section does repeal the former by implication. Courts generally look with disfavor on repeals by implication, but sometimes they are sustained, he said.

Jenkins said the situation was brought to his attention by a municipality which he would not name, when it inquired if it could be assured of obtaining all the extra money. He said he called it to the attention of Governor Herbert last Friday. The governor in turn asked State Highway Director Shaffer to check into the situation. Shaffer conferred with Atty General Jenkins yesterday. They agreed that the supreme court should be asked to rule immediately on the question.

SUSPECT ABDUCTS CHIEF OF POLICE

By The Associated Press

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 30—Police Chief Wayne Elliott of Allentown was kidnaped early today by a man he was seeking to arrest on a robbery charge, forced to drive at gunpoint for two hours and finally managed to escape by leaping from the car in nearby Bethlehem.

Elliott said the man threatened a number of times during during their ride to shoot him with one of three revolvers he was carrying and "laughed about taking a cop for a ride."

The 45-year-old police chief identified his captor as Erbor Julius Worseck, 23, who was apprehended in Allentown several hours later.

Elliott said he went to a house in Allentown where Worseck has been living to seize him in connection with several safe robberies in the Allentown area.

A cordon of police was thrown around the house as Elliott approached the front door. Before he could knock, however, Worseck appeared with a revolver.

Forcing Elliott to walk in front of him and muttering threats that he would shoot if other police moved, Worseck forced Elliott to climb behind the wheel of his black radio-equipped police sedan.

"POUND BABY" DIES

Private Funeral Arranged For Murdered Girl

Relatives and Close Friends To Attend; Classmates To Be Flower Girls.

By MARY HERRING

Arrangements were being made today to hold private funeral services for Roxie Ann Green tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The services, open only to relatives and close friends, will be conducted at the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Rev. Ralph Knoop, pastor of Prospect Methodist church will officiate. Although Roxie was not a member of the Prospect church, Rev. Knoop was chosen by the family because he was a close friend. Active in the recent search for the missing girl, he was named chairman of the committee assigned to raise the reward which was to have been offered.

Details of the funeral services were being handled by Dale Sparks of Prospect, another close friend who assisted in the numerous searches.

Classmates To Take Part

Neighbors and fellow workers of Mr. Green will serve as pallbearers and classmates of Roxie as flower girls. Mrs. Green said she had given Mr. Sparks a list of the girl's classmates and friends and the flower girls were being chosen from that.

A selection of hymns will be played at the services with one of the girl's friends as soloist. The body will not be viewed, but friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p. m. tonight.

This morning at the home, located about four miles northeast of Prospect on the Lauer road, were the parents of the dead girl, a brother and sister and Mrs. Catherine Justice of Chillicothe, a sister of Mr. Green who arrived here last week after the girl was reported missing.

Fathers Returns In Plane

Mr. Green, who had returned to work yesterday, was notified at Walbridge, O., that his daughter's body had been found. Arrangements were made for John Spellerberg, an instructor at the Marion municipal airport, to fly to Toledo to pilot Mr. Green home. They arrived back in Marion yesterday afternoon.

The father said the Toledo airport was closed to all traffic due to weather conditions and the pilot was forced to return to Upper Sandusky where he called Toledo to ask for permission to land. When the situation was explained he was permitted to return and land at the Toledo field.

The plane had taken off from here at 12:30 p. m. and landed in Toledo at 2:30 o'clock. Green said they took off immediately on the return trip and that a speed of more than 100 miles per hour was attained. The plane landed at the Marion port at 3:10 p. m.

News Shocks Family

Mrs. Green said that although they had begun to fear for the safety of Roxie Ann, when Mr. Sparks broke the news to them yesterday it came as a terrible shock. Mrs. Justice, the children and Mrs. Green were at the home when the news of the finding came. The mother said they all became slightly hysterical.

This morning at the home, all the members present had regained their composure. Mrs Green, although visibly disturbed, gave the arrangements for the services herself.

She said they had been trying to get a Prospect girl to serve as soloist because Roxie Ann liked her singing so well. The girl, a friend of Roxie, was too upset last night and Mrs. Green said she doubted if she could sing tomorrow.

While sitting at the dining room table, the adult members of the family continued to talk about the girl's murder, stating that they didn't see how a person could be so heartless to "kill a little girl with a hammer, then go to a dance." The mother said she couldn't "see how he had the nerve to meet people he knew on the street after doing such a thing and still not bat an eye."

Searchers Near Spot

Mr. Green, in recalling one of the many searches made, said he himself had been within about 500 feet of the spot where his daughter's body was found. He said they had even timed their distance trying to figure out just how far Shappard could have gone in the time not accounted for.

The spot where the body was found is about six miles east of the Green home.

When questioned if he knew Shappard, and had seen him, Green replied he had never seen him. "I don't want to see him," he added, "I don't know if I could stand it." The father said Roxie Ann knew Shappard only slightly.

Green explained that Shappard was distantly related to a school

HELD TO GRAND JURY ON FIRST DEGREE CHARGE

Special Session Scheduled for Friday in Roxie Green Slaying.

By W. T. BUCHANAN
Marion Star City Editor

Ray Abraham Shappard, 32, of Prospect, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of first degree murder in the hammer slaying of Roxie Ann Green. He was bound over to the grand jury without bond.

He was arraigned on the murder charge before Judge W. Dexter Hazen at 11:30 a. m.

Shappard was taken to the court immediately after he signed a full confession taken by Court Reporter Robert Hedges in the presence of Prosecutor James E. Reed, Sheriff LeRoy Retterer and Deputies Raymond LaMonda and Edgar Fink. The confession, requiring about 15 minutes to take in shorthand, was given in the county jail office.

Prosecutor Reed said the confession added no important details to the preliminary statement taken yesterday when Shappard first admitted the slaying.

To Call Special Session

Reed said he would have a special session of the grand jury called for Friday morning to consider the case. The jury will be the same one that concluded a three-day session last Saturday.

Shappard was taken from the jail to the municipal courtroom in the city hall by Sheriff Retterer and Deputy Fink. Prosecutor Reed and Deputy LaMonda also were present for the arraignment.

On reaching the vacant courtroom Prosecutor Reed handed Shappard a copy of the affidavit charging that: "He, Ray Abraham Shappard, unlawfully then and there did purposely and of deliberate and premeditated malice kill Roxie Green."

Shappard Reads Charge

Shappard read the document slowly and handed it back to the prosecutor. Reed then entered the court clerk's office and filed the affidavit with Clerk E. G. Leffler.

Two copies were filed, one going to Shappard and the other to Judge Hazen to become part of the court record.

As the sheriff handed Shappard his copy he asked him if he had read it. He answered that he had. The affidavits were signed by Sheriff Retterer and Prosecutor Reed.

Immediately afterward Judge Hazen entered the courtroom and called Shappard before the bench.

He started to read the charge and noticed an error in the typewritten form which read "Marion city" instead of "Marion county." This was called to the attention of the prosecutor who quickly corrected it with pen.

Pleads Guilty

The judge continued to read and at the conclusion asked Shappard if he understood the charge. He nodded affirmatively.

"What do you say to this charge, guilty or not guilty?" Judge Hazen asked.

"Guilty," Shappard said in a voice not audible in the rear of the courtroom.

"Held to the grand jury without bond," the judge said as he entered the order in his records.

The court session lasted less than three minutes. Shappard was returned to the county jail.

With the arrival of Shappard in the courtroom a few spectators gathered to watch the proceedings. About a dozen were on hand, consisting principally of city police and employes of municipal offices.

Sits Motionless

On entering the vacant courtroom Shappard, handcuffed, was directed to a seat in the rear. Nearby was Deputy Fink. After reading the affidavit handed him by the prosecutor Shappard and Fink were alone while the papers were being filed. At one time Shappard leaned toward Fink and whispered to him momentarily. Otherwise he was motionless until called before the bench.

Shappard was wearing the same clothes he had on when taken into custody Sunday—an O. D. army field jacket and army trousers of the same material.

As the officers took Shappard from the jail to court he turned to a reporter and asked half jokingly if "he sold a lot of papers last night." Then turning to Sheriff Retterer he said, "I'll bet you haven't been mugged so many times in your life." In his remark to the sheriff he was referring to the appearance of Co-

CHANGE IN GAS ORDER ASKED

Marion Man Joins in Attack on Ban Against New Heating Installations.

The Ohio Public Utilities commission today had under consideration appeals for modification of its order banning all new gas heating installations to conserve fuel during the coming winter, an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus reported today.

Following a four-hour public hearing in Columbus yesterday, in which a Marion man stated his views on the present gas situation, the commissioners conferred with officials of the three largest natural gas suppliers to find out if the order could be eased, the dispatch states.

Early Decision Promised

The commissioners, Chairman Harry M. Miller, Harold L. Mason and Paul E. Weiland, said they would decide this week if possible, whether to make the order of Sept. 15 permanent, change it, or repeal it, in light of testimony heard at the public hearing.

Witnesses told the commission that the order enforced would slow or stop new housing for veterans; that it was discriminatory against heating contractors with big inventories of gas furnaces and conversion units to burn gas in coal furnaces; that it was pushed by gas companies seeking high prices, and that it would work an extreme hardship on persons seeking automatic gas heat because illness or age prevented them from shoveling coal.

Marion Man Heard

The Marion man, H. B. Walker, who described himself as an independent gas producer in southern Ohio, declared "there is no known shortage of gas today, although there may be before the winter is over," the dispatch stated. Mr. Walker is chairman of the board of the Fairfield Engineering Co.

"All the talking here today," Mr. Walker said, "is not going to produce any gas that can be burned. This shortage is a result of planning."

"The Ohio Fuel Gas company carries an enormous gas acreage in Ohio, which is paid for by the gas consumers. It has a near monopoly of a gas producing area. Even so, independent operators have done 70 per cent of the new

Production Deficit Called Nub Of Difficulties Facing World

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30—To Henry Ford II "the nub of today's problems" is a "worldwide deficit in production."

And American businessmen must lead the way in tackling this production job "with vision and boldness * * * to establish a firm economic basis for a peaceful world," the 29-year-old Ford Motor Co. president told some 600 executives from 30 states at the Automotive and Aviation Parts Manufacturers association's annual meeting here last night.

"America," he said, "cannot alone fill the world's needs for production" but "ought to assist other nations to increase their productive capacities by exporting, to the top of our ability, the necessary tools, material and know-how."

It is also important, he went on "that we try to make it clear to the entire world the shortest and surest way to real production efficiency is that of a free people, working for their own best interests."

"What we are faced with," Ford asserted, "is not simply a temporary 'post-war' problem, but the gigantic task of building an economic base for future peace."

"Our job is not only to continue to increase the productive capacity of America, but to do everything we can to rebuild and expand the ability of the rest of the world to produce," he added.

"Unless the whole world achieves greater wealth and security, America cannot hope to maintain high standards. We are all in one boat together and if it sinks at one end, it sinks all over."

In comparing that production with production under what he described as the "bogus notion" of communism Ford said United States raised her industrial production last year 36 per cent over 1940—"about the percentage of increase that Chairman Zoznessensky of the Soviet state planning commission tells his people he hopes to achieve by 1950."

Grain Prices Shoot Upward

Rocket Limit on Exchanges; Consumers Eye Market for Further Retail Hikes.

By The Associated Press

The nation's consumers, many of them buying with caution in hopes of price declines in basic food and other items, watched the nation's commodity markets today after yesterday's sharp increases in grains and some other commodities.

Many of the shoppers were waiting to see whether the new advances in grains and meat animal prices would mean another upturn in the already skyrocketinging prices.

Advance To Limit

Wheat, corn, oats and soybeans yesterday advanced the permissible limits for one day's trading at most of the major exchanges. The inflationary trend of grain prices was the result of a recommendation by a committee of Mr. Truman's advisors that 570,000,000 bushels of grain be exported and the meeting of congressional leaders with the President on the world food situation.

Closing prices were at the top at Chicago, with December wheat finishing at $2.85⅞ a bushel; corn $2.32⅞, and oats $1.16¾. At Winnipeg all rye futures rose the

Woman Knocked Down and Robbed

Mrs. Ronald McGinty of 486 Ballentine avenue reported to the police last night that while she was walking to a grocery store near her home someone slipped up behind her and struck her on the head, knocking her to the ground temporarily unconscious. Her assailant then took her blue zipper purse and $1.94 in change.

She said that she did not see her assailant. She revived almost immediately to call the police at 7:15 p. m.

AID APPROVED BY SENATOR

Vendenberg Terms Help for Europe Matter of Human Survival.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said today that in the matter of emergency aid for Europe "the immediate question is one of elemental human survival in a free society."

Vandenberg, the recognized senate Republican spokesman on foreign policy matters, made that statement in announcing he has called the senate foreign relations committee to meet Nov. 10 in accordance with a request from President Truman. Vandenberg is chairman of the group.

Noting Mr. Truman's request that key senate and house committees explore western Europe's "urgent winter needs for food and fuel," Vandenberg added:

"This proposal is submitted separately from plans dealing with long range economy recovery on a self-help basis although they have factors in common."

Requests Fund Study

Mr. Truman asked yesterday that four congressional committees study a $580,000,00 fund for European winter aid before he determines whether to summon a special session of congress.

Explaining why he had not called his committee to meet until Nov. 10, Vandenberg said the state department "will not be ready with concrete proposals until Nov. 1."

He added that "other essential reports, including findings of congressional committees visiting Europe and also the report of the Harriman commission, will not be available until that time."

ecretary of Commerce Harriman is directing a study into the question of how much aid the United states can give Europe without injury to its own economy.

With Vandenberg's call for the senate foreign relations committee to meet, three of the four committees Mr. Truman asked to study European aid have now been summoned to convene in early November. The others are senate appropriations and house foreign affairs.

The fourth committee is house appropriations. Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of it, is now in lumbus newsmen at the jail Monday afternoon. They took numerous pictures of Shappard with authorities.

Shappard Enters Plea of Guilty

Served In Army

During World War II Shappard spent three and one half years in the Army. He was overseas a year and a half but never saw combat service. He was a cook in Co. M, 3rd Infantry and was stationed for a considerable time at LaHavre, France.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Shappard, live in Prospect. Both are advanced in age.

Shappard is about five feet, eight inches tall, of medium build and has thinning sandy hair. He has light complexion, slightly ruddy.

Asks for Minister

This morning he asked Sheriff Retterer to call Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein of Prospect to ask him to call at the jail. Rev. Dobberstein said he would do so.

In an interview at the county jail Monday afternoon Shappard seemed to lose his air of detached calmness. He appeared to be taking a more serious view of his position.

When asked if at any time during the week-long search for Roxie he had considered giving himself up he answered that he had. "You think about a lot of things with something like that on your mind," he said.

In the meantime Shappard is lodged in the Marion county jail, which he first entered as a prisoner early Monday morning after a Sunday questioning session that lasted more than 12 hours.

Placed in Separate Cell

At his own request to Sheriff LeRoy Retterer Shappard was removed from the jail proper to a separate cell yesterday noon. He had been placed with other prisoners when returned from the search at the scene of the crime about noon yesterday. Sheriff Retterer said he would be kept separated from other prisoners until he has given and signed a detailed statement of the crime.

A preliminary statement made by Shappard yesterday morning and taken by a stenographer from the prosecutor's office led to the solution of the crime.

It came about eight hours after the completion of the Sunday questioning in which Shappard said he was confused and could not remember anything that happened in the one hour for which he failed to account in his activities the night of Friday, Sept. 19.

It was in this hour, between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m., that Roxie disappeared from route 47 east of Prospect, was slain and her body deposited along a rural road dividing Marion and Delaware counties.

Lie Detector Test Futile

Officials here said Shappard would make no direct admissions of guilt in the Sunday questioning. Even a lie detector brought here from the Toledo police department failed to link him definitely to the crime to the satisfaction of the two officers who brought the device here.

First indication that Shappard was willing to talk came about 9 a. m. Monday when he told Sheriff Retterer he would have something to say if he could talk to his wife alone.

His wife, Lillian, was brought here from the Shappard home in Prospect. After five minutes alone with her Shappard told Retterer he was ready to make a statement. The conversation between the Shappards was not known except that Shappard said to his wife as she left, "whatever happens, take care of the children."

The Shappards have two children, Joe Lee, 10, and Bobbie, 4.

Interviewed at Jail

Interviewed by this reporter in county jail yesterday afternoon Shappard repeated the story he had told officers earlier in the day. He amplified some details, especially the manner in which he admits he killed Roxie with a claw hammer on the rural road a mile east of Norton.

He again related that she got on the left running board of his Model A Ford car on route 47 when he offered her a ride home and that she was knocked unconscious when she jumped from the car as it passed her home on the Lauer road.

"I was going to Waldo to get some beer when I saw her walking along the left side of the road. I couldn't stop until I was past her but I turned around and came back," he said.

After making the second turn until he again was traveling in the same direction as Roxie he offered to take her home.

Shappard said he didn't know Roxie personally and added he didn't think she knew him. That she knew of him was probable, however, since her girl friend, Betty Jo Williams, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cronkleton, the foster parents of Mrs. Shappard.

"I told her who I was and she got on the left running board," he said.

He declared there was no conversation between the two as the car traveled the mile to Roxie's home on the Lauer road.

Says She Jumped

Nothing was said, he insisted, until Roxie called, "Here is where I live." At that point he said she jumped from the car.

Shappard related that he drove to the next farm, the Harold Anderson residence, and turned around. Immediately after the disappearance of Roxie became known the Andersons reported seeing a model A Ford turn in their driveway and return to the Green home 300 yards to the south.

Shappard said he returned to the point where Roxie jumped and found her unconscious on the ground.

"I thought I had better get her to a doctor, so I put her back into the car," he said.

Shappard insisted he did not see a light in the Green residence and that he didn't see anyone about. He denied specifically that he saw Donald Green, 14, Roxie's brother, approach the car.

When the investigation started more than a week ago Donald said he saw a man get out of a Model A. Donald approached the car in the semi-darkness and asked if anything was wrong. He said the man seemed to be throwing something into the car.

Donald said that when he approached within about 30 feet the man got back into the car and drove south.

It was at this same spot that Donald found Roxie's shoe, her purse and a hair ribbon the morning after she disappeared.

Gives Reason for Destination

Shappard said that in seeking a doctor he started for Delaware instead of Prospect because, "everybody knows me in Prospect."

He related that Roxie regained consciousness before he reached Norton and that she began to "scream and holler."

MINIATURE ATLAS SETS RECORD — With a heave and a grunt little Joe DePietro, Paterson, N. J., lifts a mass of metal weighing 225 pounds and sets a new record for his weight class in the two-hand military press. A mighty atom of the barbell world, Joe is pictured performing in the International Weight Lifting Championships at Philadelphia. He stands four feet, eight inches and tips the scales at 122½. The U. S. team won in three classes.

Shappard here began an account of the incidents leading up to the slaying.

"I had been drinking all afternoon and when she began to make a fuss I got mad and lost my head. I went nuts," he said.

Instead of turning south on route 23 at Norton to reach Delaware Shappard continued east at Norton. About a mile east he took a rural road that leads off state route 229, the Norton-Mt. Vernon road.

Driving up a low grade he stopped just over the brow of the hill.

"She was screaming she would get me for kidnaping. I got out and picked up a hammer from the back seat. When I walked around to the other side she was out too.

"I hit her once and a couple more times as she went down. I don't know how many times I hit her."

Body Taken Into Bushes

After dragging the body into the bushes along the road Shappard returned to the car and drove east. He related that he threw the hammer away when he "got the car rolling."

The hammer was found about 100 feet from the body on the opposite side of the road.

Shappard said he continued east and circled back into Waldo over the Olentangy river bridge.

In Waldo he bought six bottles of beer which he took to the Cronkleton home in Prospect. There he picked up his wife. They went home, cleaned up and went to a dance at a road house on route 98 a short distance north of Waldo.

Body in Delaware County

The body was found on the Delaware county side of the road. Land at that point is owned by J. C. Stevens and immediately to the east is the farm of Alden McDougal. The Joseph Rawlins property is on the Marion county side of the road. The center of the road is the dividing line between the two counties.

About 40 or 50 persons walked and drove to the spot yesterday before the body was removed. Several brought small children.

Cars were lined along the narrow road almost to the county road 229, which curves south where the gravel road joins.

Delaware county officials placed a car at the road intersection in an attempt to keep autos from traveling along the road, but some of the drivers circled the car and came on to the spot.

Shappard, under constant guard by Marion county officers, stood quietly in the center of the road about 200 feet from where the girl's body lay. He appeared undisturbed during most of the time at the scene and sat in the county car only for a few minutes. He appeared willing to talk and conversed with various men who approached him.

He and Sheriff Retterer were looking farther east along the roadside for the discarded hammer when it was located by Wayne Rawlins, 22, who lives nearby. One of the group whistled and Shappard was the first to turn around and see them motioning. He turned around and started back a step or two ahead of the sheriff, saying "they must have found it back there, I guess." The sheriff cautioned the finders not to touch it.

Found Under Weeds

The hammer, a regular carpenter's hammer, was buried under the weeds and was lying almost directly under the bottom wire of the fence. The handle was a dark varnished wood, reddish in color. Rawlins had been walking along the inside of the fence while the others stayed on the outside. The weeds were high and the clothing of all were covered with burrs.

Sheriff Retterer picked the hammer up in a handkerchief, holding it by the end of the handle and as he did, Shappard said "That's my hammer, I'm sure." And leaning closer he said again, "I'm sure it's mine."

Earl Fravel, Delaware county sheriff, arrived a few minutes after the weapon was located. Shappard and the men who had helped search walked back to meet Fravel and Clyde Lewis, Delaware county prosecutor. Deputy Edward Fink had returned and Sheriff Retterer told him to put the cuffs on Shappard. He held out his hands while they were put on and locked.

Only Show of Emotion

He appeared as though he would break down, but a few minutes passed before he was seen wiping his eyes as he stood near the car. That was the only time he showed any emotion. The rest of the time he smoked or leaned down and picked the burrs from his trousers.

Deputy Fink and Shappard stood in the center of the road near the county car until he was returned to Marion county jail by Fink and Ross McGinnis of Marion. The three left before the body was removed at 1 p. m.

The body was not moved until both Dr. E. H. Morgan, Marion county coroner and Dr. Ray Davies, Delaware county coroner, arrived.

"How To Stay Married on a Small Budget"

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

[illegible] YORK—Sayeth the Poor philosopher:

[illegible] cannot live by bread alone. [illegible] also true that love is [illegible] fuel.

[illegible] why young married cou- [illegible] an income of some kind. [illegible] don't have to start jay- [illegible] down the road to divorce because their budget is small. [illegible] the ten-penny love that [illegible] the big-dollar upkeep.

[illegible] then, can two loving peo- [illegible] as cheap as one? Well, they can't. The last couple that did it were the Siamese twins. But a couple can live happily together cheaper than they can apart, dueling at each other through attorneys over the problem of alimony.

Hal Boyle

The biggest problem a young [illegible] and wife face in living [illegible]-size budget is to come [illegible] open and mutual realization [illegible] together is worth-skip[illegible] a dress or a suit of clothes, [illegible] weekly bottle of booze, or the [illegible] vacation trip to a postcard [illegible].

Sabotage Building

The next problem is to be sure [illegible] the budget, no matter how [illegible] is deliberately sabotaged [illegible] to give you both a [illegible] out together on the town. There is no other thrill in life to compare with the delirious terror of a young couple or a beach resort—which they know they can't afford. The late J. P. Morgan never had so much fun buying a yacht.

A couple, on the other hand, that doesn't play hookey with some once-in-a-while foolishness is inviting the disaster of dry rot. Their iron-clad budget will rust all joy into slow hate.

There isn't much point in advising young couples about the ways and means of skimping along on a slim income. They will learn to darn socks and hose instead of throwing them away, cut down on pointless entertainment and to eat at home instead of restaurants—they will learn these things quickly or go under.

Less quickly do many young couples realize that to make up for the pleasures lost in low-budget living, they must share more deeply in each other's lives. This is endless reward.

The husband who broods at home about his office troubles but boasts to others that he never bothers his wife with them is as far off base as left field. So is the man who shrugs off his frau's household worries with the encouraging remark: "What do you think I have to put up with at work every day!"

I know one young couple living in a Greenwich village mousetrap who almost hit the matrimonial rocks because the husband couldn't understand his wife's horror over an ineradicable invasion of bedbugs, which in some seasons can be picked up in New York subways more easily than the common cold.

He had never seen bedbugs before, and didn't worry because they never bit him. He was a mosquito man himself. When he did belatedly realize that many gallant women can stand poverty but few can face poverty and bedbugs too, he saved the situation by moving his wife into a new bug-free flat.

I have reversed my belief of many years that a man should perform as few household chores as possible. I still think it is demeaning for a husband to cook all the meals. But the more work-a-day things you do together the more a house seems like a home instead of a corral. For some reason modern wives still prefer a husband to a radio in the kitchen. The radio just won't stop and listen.

So—pitch in with a towel on the dishes, men. As Frances tells me:

"You only do so about once every leap year, but every little bit helps."

SAME AS MOSCOW — Correspondent Pierre Courtade of the French party's "L'Humanite" is admitted to the United States under conditions comparable to those imposed by the Soviets on foreign correspondents in Russia. Courtade, now in New York City, will confine his dispatches to UN activities, remain in the city and refrain from making public speeches.

Marion Autos In Bucyrus Accidents

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 30 — Three motorists paid fines in mayor's court Monday for reckless operation of motor vehicles over the weekend, their arrests growing out of traffic mishaps.

Dale W. Francis, route 1, Bellevue, paid $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge filed after he had been in an accident involving three cars in the 200 block on North Sandusky avenue. Police said that Francis struck the rear of a car operated by Virginia Markley of Marion, when Mrs. Markley stopped for a train. The impact threw Ervin Markley, a passenger in the car, against the windshield. He suffered severe head bruises and was taken to City hospital for examination.

George B. Clark also paid $10 and costs on a similar charge arising out of an accident Friday in which he struck a parked car belonging to Morris O'Connor of Marion, at the Marion-Sandusky avenue intersection. Gene Scott, a passenger in the Clark car received cuts about the face when his face struck the windshield.

Also fined $10 and costs was Richard B. Lake, Galion, who gave $25 appearance bond after police apprehended him when he was clocked doing 50 miles an hour on South Sandusky avenue Saturday afternoon.

BEREAVED KIN — Pastor of the South Side Seventh-Day Adventist church in Chicago, the Rev. Francis F. Bush, is shown with his son, Donald, 2, as they mourned their murdered wife and mother. She was stabbed to death in a parking lot while on a shopping tour.

Two Drivers Fined By Bucyrus Mayor

His second offense, Frank Baker, 23, of Route 2, Galion, was fined $200 and costs, and given a 60-day jail sentence, for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The jail sentence will be suspended if fine and costs are paid.

THE NATION TODAY

Chief Points of Debate on Aid From U. S. To Crippled Europe

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—Are you foggy from all the talk of helping Europe? Here's an ABC on it.

Keep two points in mind:

1. Europe will need help for years to come.

2. But right now, this winter, it needs help badly.

At this moment help of both kinds is away up in the air, indefinite.

Take those two main points again, in more detail.

►Europe will need help for years to come.

This country has been helping European nations since the war ended but on a piecemeal basis, without any general plan for all of them.

James Marlow

By last spring it became pretty clear this kind of help wasn't doing the job of getting Europe back on its feet.

It was still hungry and its money was running out. But would congress continue to shovel out American dollars to help Europe?

Probably not, if the help remained on this piecemeal basis. Yet Europe would continue to need help.

If it didn't continue to get help from us Europe might, in desperation, turn to Soviet Russia.

Marshall Proposes Plans

So last June 5 Secretary of State Marshall said we'd try to help European nations with a general plan for the whole group of those nations would:

1. Get together and, first, agree on some plan for helping themselves.

(For example: One country agreeing to let another have spare coal.)

2. Then agree on exactly how much additional help they needed from us, and for how long.

Sixteen nations met in Paris, agreed on a plan of self-help, and agreed also on what they'd need from us and other non-European countries.

They figured that, over four years, they'd need about $22,400,000,000 in outside help, mostly from the United States.

But—and this is important—this whole plan, called the Marshall Plan, will fall through unless congress approves.

Congress isn't due to come back to work until next January.

►Right now, this winter, Europe needs help badly.

Europe is in pretty tough shape right now for a lot of things, specially food and fuel.

How About Interval

So what are starving and freezing Europeans to do between now and that time—maybe next spring—when congress acts on the Marshall plan?

Before that time, if the Europeans become desperate for help and feel none is coming from us, they may turn to Russia or to Communism of their own.

But can't congress be called back into session now, instead of waiting till January, to start work on the Marshall plan?

Yes, but, as explained, months will be used up before congress decides on that plan.

If Europe has to wait for a decision on the Marshall plan, the winter will be over. Can't we give Europe some help now?

President Truman said the money needed to tide Europe over the winter—perhaps $1,000,000,000—can't be given unless congress approves.

To approve before its regular session in January, congress would have to be called back into special session for that purpose. Will it be?

Maybe not. Mr Truman yesterday talked with congressional leaders and decided:

He'll ask the big congressional committees which handle money matters to meet here as soon as possible. (They can do this without the whole congress being called back.)

Washington Irving was captured by Mediterranean pirates when he was in Europe in 1815.

7 Accidents In Traffic Listed

Five in City, Two on Highways in Area Near Marion.

Seven traffic accidents occurring over the weekend in and near Marion were reported Monday by Marion city police and state highway patrolmen. Five were reported by police, two by patrolmen.

A collision at 9:15 a. m. Saturday at Grand and Indiana avenues resulted in considerable damage to the truck and car involved and broke off a fire hydrant.

The accident happened, according to reports, when a Lima Packing Co. truck, driven by James Harold Hawks, 29, was unable to stop at Grand avenue after pulling away from an Indiana avenue grocery. He crashed into a southbound car driven by Lowell A. Cook, 53, of 196 North Seffner avenue, knocking the car into a fire plug on the southeast corner of the intersection, breaking it off at the base. The left front of the truck, grill and a motor support was broken. The right side and rear of the Cook car was badly damaged.

Parked Car Hit

A parked car owned by Joel W. Halliday, 43, of 674 Woodrow avenue was damaged slightly Saturday at 11 p. m. when another car scraped the left rear fender while backing from a parking space on Court street, police said. The name of the other driver was not known.

A collision Saturday at 11:07 p. m. on Davids street near Center and Hayes streets between a car driven by Robert R. Bolander, 33, of 1051 Bennett street and another car, police said. Minor damage resulted to the Bolander car, police said. Name of the other driver was not known. Both were headed north on Davids street.

Kenneth Rush, 16, of 193 Franconia avenue suffered a light knee injury in a collision between the Cushman scooter he was riding and a car driven by Nita Leah Matson, 46, of near Marion, police said. The accident happened at 12:10 p. m. Saturday at East Church street and Baker street. The Matson car was headed south on Baker street, the scooter west on East Church street when the accident happened. Mrs. Matson took the boy to his home.

A car driven by Everett Spears, 43, of 684 Florence street ran into a utility pole at Mound and Columbia streets at 1:29 a. m. Monday, resulting in minor damage to the car. Spears told police he was talking to his dog, which was in the car with him, when the accident happened.

Accident Near Mt. Gilead

Louis Whaley, 28, of Covington Ky., escaped with cuts and bruises when he lost control of his car on a curve on route 42, just east of Mt. Gilead at 6:15 a. m. Sunday, state patrolmen reported. The car overturned and was demolished. He was treated by a Mt. Gilead physician and released.

Beach Bradley, 28, of Marengo was arrested and charged with reckless operation following a collision at 1:40 p. m. Sunday with another car on route 314, patrolmen reported. The other driver was John William Moore, 16, of Galion. Marvin Adams, owner of the car Moore was driving, was charged with permitting a person to drive the car without a license. Bradley and Adams were scheduled to appear before Mayor R. G. Booher of Mt. Gilead.

Both cars, traveling north, were damaged considerably.

Shamokin Butcher Calls For Meatless Week To Fight HCL

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

HINGTON, Sept 30—The senators who invited Dick Rickert, honest butcher of Shamokin, Pa., to tell the secret of the 39-n steaks, have nudged him into a mental meat grinder.

en the high-cost-of-living subcommittee of Sen. Ralph E. of Vermont, invited him on how he maintains meat prices at his butcher business began to boom as before, and who'll handle omers lining up for the hamburger, the 15-cent ops and the 35-cent rib the portly Rickert is king a speech at the law-

question puzzled Rickert ed everything finally at e Giant market in Shamo- on the long distance and asked me if I thought anders could find a fill-in while he was explaining nomics of the 19-cent leg I told him I doubted Rickert said he guessed e'd have to send his recourse,' added Brother he name his customers en him) 'the dumbest sometimes grows the big-tatoes I mean even a ke me can come up with and I'd sure like to tell it senators but . . ."

Would Like To Tell

Brother Dick and I made here on the phone Since to stray behind the meat he'd give me the details scheme and I'd relay them lawmakers We ran up a ng telephone bill before through, but here's the dope Dick Rickert, America's best known butcher, talking.

"My selling meat at these low prices is no answer to the high cost of living," he said "I'm just one little fellow in a little town, I'm not so smart but I've been in the meat business a long time and I'd say it's the public's fault, itself for buying at crazy prices.

But the public does it and that ruins competition. Why, a fellow posts cockeyed meat prices on his window today and he's not even ashamed of himself And the fellow across the street doesn't do anything about it, because he likes the high profits too And the housewife pays the price So I'm afraid she brought this thing on herself

Brother Dick paused at this juncture I could hear him shushing the impatient customers

"Hello he resumed If the government puts on rationing, they'll be patronizing black markets for the thrill of it But I am a highly patronizing jackass now and maybe the people will listen This is all there is to my idea if every housewife in this country would boycott meat for one week and then buy only from a butcher who reduces prices 25 per cent below what he charged before—that would bring down the cost of meat"

I wondered if the butchers of America could afford to do it

"They'd afford it said Brother Dick, or they'd go out of business The price cut would go all the way back to the wholesalers the packers the feedlots, and finally to the farmer who raised the steer Everybody'd have to shave his profits a little

"And another thing I don't know why the government's investigating the meat packers They've got to pay the price now to get the animals because the people are willing to pay the price for meat It's not the packers' fault. It's a case of supply and demand And tell those senators I'm sure sorry I can't get away to testify for 'em It's kind of their fault anyway"

Brother Dick said as he hung up, that he had to catch up on carving 39-cent sirloins The patrons were getting impatient

New Broom for Truman

J. HOWARD McGRATH, new national chairman for the Democratic party, is an honorary vice president of the Rhode Island Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Among his other distinctions is a seat in the U. S. senate. The honorary vice presidency may give him more insight into one of his early housecleaning tasks than the senatorship.

As a new broom for President Truman, who is running for reelection in 1948 because he already has the nomination in his pocket, Chairman McGrath must sweep out gently but firmly the Hannegan-Sullivan philosophy of lining up the left-wing labor vote at the expense of the Democratic party. He must hurt no feelings, but neither must he spare any feelings that need to be hurt; such as those of the super-minds who rigged up the cute strategy of letting the CIO put the party on the spot and murder it in that Pennsylvania by-election a few weeks back.

Hannegan has been Democratic chairman since Jan. 22, 1944, postmaster general since July 1, 1945. Two things have been wrong with him: he has been in ill health and has made too many bum guesses as the party's No. 1 adviser. Advised by his doctors—also his political associates—that he needs a long rest, he will fall back on his postmastership. His assistant, the nimble Mr. Sullivan, will be given a chance to put his feet in his mouth in some less conspicious place than the Democratic national headquarters.

Halsey Stops One

ADMIRAL HALSEY took one amidships as a result of his statement that as a general rule he doesn't trust a fighting man who doesn't smoke or drink. The Methodists didn't like it and their Clipsheet cites some famous abstemous soldiers—Robert E. Lee, Jimmy Doolittle, Jeb Stuart and Stonewall Jackson.

This is one of those peculiarly American items that make print when a newsworthy individual makes a newsworthy remark. Admiral Halsey made another during the war when he said he would ride Hirohito's white horse in a Tokyo V-J day parade.

Halsey isn't the first national hero to get in trouble with the temperance forces. U. S. Grant was another. Both were undeniably successful, however, in operations against the enemy, a fact their severest critics cheerfully admit.

Community Propery Blue

PENNSYLVANIA is the most recent state to adopt the community-property law under which total family income is divided equally between husband and wife in the computation of federal income taxes. Now a judge in Waynesburg, Pa., has caused a fluttering of law books throughout the state by ruling that a husband charged with deserting his wife must pay half his income for her support instead of a lesser amount fixed by the court as in the past.

The decision will be appealed. But it does emphasize a point stressed by states where community-property laws are just that and not mere devices to reduce income tax payments. Spokesmen for these states, mostly in the southwest and with Spanish or French heritages, say the Johnny-come-latelys to the community-property windfall should interpret the law on the same basis they do and not utilize it only as a tax dodge. The Waynesburg judge believes that's the way it should be, too. A lot of Pennsylvanians who saw a slick way to cut their taxes are going to disagree.

Who's Degraded?

A CHICAGO newspaper editorial writer who commented unfavorably on the sport of bullfighting received this reply from the Spanish embassy's minister counselor: "Neither do I personally care for boxing, all-in wrestling, or catch-as-catch-can. I dislike sensationalist crime reporting and physiopsychologic terror films. But it would be extremely discourteous of me to imply that these popular amusements measure the degradation of the American people."

From the non-Hispanic viewpoint, bullfighting is a difficult sport to defend, unless Spaniards can offer proof that the bull gets any pleasure out of it. Wrestlers, boxers and those who partake of crime and terror stories do so voluntarily, which is more than Spaniards can say for the bulls they shoo into the arena to be killed.

THE newsreel showed a swimming pool covered with floating oranges—thousands of them. Among the golden flotsam, bathing beauties swam and splashed.

In Farmer City, Ill., a pavement was covered with wax mixed with oatmeal to provide a surface for dancing at an agricultural celebration.

Is it any wonder Europe looks at us enviously and that a surly note can be detected in its entreaties for help?

Where Does "Diplomacy of Pay-Off" Leave U. S.?

OSTENSIBLY it looks as though the United States is winning all the tactical victories at the United Nations. Actually, a position of neutrality is developing there which may be of tremendous importance to this country. The questions arise: Does the United States have any allies? Has our "diplomacy of the pay-off" left us realistically isolated? In the event of a war, who in Europe or Asia would support us as we have twice in this generation supported and saved nations in Europe and Asia?

Take, for instance, China. This country has been saving China from partition and destruction since John Hay was secretary of state. Beginning with the "open door policy" in 1899, through our protection of China during the Boxer rebellion, through the imposition of the 21 demands by Japan in 1915, through our rejection of the Paris peace treaty because of the Shantung clauses, through the Washington conference and the nine-power treaty, through the Stimson doctrine in 1931 to our actual engagement in war with Japan, this country has consistently supported whatever government in China possessed authority. Besides, we spent huge sums for the welfare of the Chinese people in educational, health and religious missionary work. We have been consistent and loyal friends of China for a century. In fact, I am sure that it can be substantiated that except for the racial issue on the Pacific coast, this country never had a quarrel with Japan that did not originate over China.

So now there is talk among the Chinese about being neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. Sun Fo, who is always a weathercock, publicly states that unless the United States comes across with money —more, more money—China might find it advisable to lie in with Soviet Russia. Sun Fo is not the brightest of men and he usually says what someone wants him to say. But who is the someone in this case? For instance, why did China abstain from voting on the question of discussing the Italian treaty? That is a fundamental question of American policy.

Now, what about the Arabs? They never would have amounted to anything were it not that Mr. Roosevelt supported the Arab league, made cash gifts to Ibn Saud, financed a vast oil enterprise with American dollars that made the Arabs richer than they were in the days of Haroun Al-Raschid in the glamorous court at Baghdad. So the Arabs are neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. They are, of course, bargaining over Palestine, or are we bargaining over oil? The Arabs also abstained from voting on the basic issues in the United Nations.

It would be unsound to jump to conclusions from these abstentions and I am not jumping to conclusions. In fact, I am going slowly but suspiciously — very suspiciously. I would like to know — and every American should know—where we stand. Who are our friends? Do we have allies? What has been the value of the "good neighbor policy?" What has been the value of lend-lease, of UNRRA, of all the help we have given nations in winning friendships? Do we only have friends as long as we pay for friendship?

Reasons for Study

These are questions that require analysis and understanding. Shall it come to be that the only peoples in all the world that will stand by America are the Japanese whom MacArthur won for us, and perhaps some of the countries on the American continent who are sentimental over the traditions of the Monroe doctrine?

Is this to gloomy a picture of our diplomatic defeat? Perhaps. I do not claim for it more than an hypothesis, but the decencies have disappeared and the proletarian statesmen who govern the world seem capable of unimaginable vulgarities, such as the Vishinsky speech, Tito's threats, or even Bevin's suggestion about distributing the "Fort Knox gold." Too many of them are in love with their own voices over the radio. Too many of them have been reared in the street-fighting and back - stabbing of revolutionary movements. We are not doing business with nice people—and eternal vigilance is the price of national existence.

Maybe He's Just Drunk On Power

"By advice of his physician, Stalin is on the water wagon," declares the president of the Michigan W.C.T.U.

Just how the good lady came into possession of this news is not revealed, but one assumes Joe has joined the Moscow chapter.

Word of Stalin's reformation comes as something of a surprise. One had thought it only world cooperation from which he was abstaining.

Yes sir, it seems only yesterday one saw him posed for a toast at a Big Three meet, looking for all the world like a refugee from a man of distinction ad.

Still, if Joe has indeed taken the pledge, perhaps we should revise our diplomacy and put our next mission to Moscow in the hands of Willie D. Upshaw.

Incidentally, while Stalin may have sworn off the stuff, Vishinsky cntinues to act like a man with a permanent hangover.

Ten Long Years Have Passed

By HOWARD DOBSON

THE most unsinkable visionaries in the country must be the finaglers who come up every 10 years with a new and copproof chain letter grift.

For devotion to an ideal—the tempting one of turning a fast illegal buck—the Postoffice Department rates them at the top of the list.

Says Calvin W. Hassell, an assistant solicitor in the department: "I came to work here 30 years ago, and the chain letter gag was an old one even then. It probably goes back a couple of centuries."

Two things are typical of chain letter schemes: a small ante, supposed to snowball into a huge return, and the 10-year cycle.

One other thing, adds Hassell. Nobody collects, except the few who get in early before postal inspectors get on their trail.

The 1947 incarnation of the old hope is unique in that the contribution is $2 and it does not use the mails to solicit. Only the payoff is by mail.

Hassell can recite a quickie history of the chain letter stunt as far back as the 1890s.

There was a popular one then in Brooklyn that dealt in streetcar tokens.

The first one the Postoffice Department was able to haul to the U. S. supreme court bobbed up shortly after 1900, Hassell says. It started in St. Louis, where "cooperators" were instructed by mail to pass a list along to other "cooperators." No merchandise was involved.

Then about 30 years ago a dime letter was started in Ohio. The department heard about it when a postmaster complained he had 30 sacks of mail piled up, each letter containing a dime.

About 15 years ago Hassell himself argued a chain letter case before the U. S. Court of Appeals. It involved silk stockings, and each participant was promised $12 worth of hosiery for his contribution of $1.

The department won the case, and the Supreme court refused to review it.

The newest scheme started in the Justice and Navy departments in Washington, fanned by reports that attorneys and Navy captains had reaped a harvest of hundreds of dollars.

"Now that one," Hassell says, "is open to additional swindling features.

"A person is supposed to sell lists to two buyers for $1 apiece, and send the $2 to the name at the top of the lists. Well, sooner or later somebody is going to get the idea of selling a couple of hundred lists."

Hitler "Brain Trust" Reconverted to Peace

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—The Kaiser Wilhelm Scientific Institutes, which provided much of the scientific brains behind Hitler's war machine, have turned again to peaceful research work.

But whereas they once had millions of marks and the best possible scientific equipment to work with, today they are operating on a shoestring.

With limited equipment and often in bomb battered laboratories, German scientists are searching into the mysteries of cancer, into silicosis which is a heavy killer among miners and stone-workers, juvenile delinquency, psychiatry and a host of other public welfare problems.

Daily Bible Thought

Age of Meteors

The same cosmic rays that detonate atomic bombs are showing astronomers that shooting stars, or meteors, are not as old as believed.

This discovery, reported to the 77th meeting of the American Astronomical Society, is considered important in timing the course of evolution and creation of the earth.

The report was made by Karl August Bauer, of Harvard Observatory. Shooting - star ages were supposed to be known accurately from the amount of helium contained in these chunks of iron and stone. This helium was believed to form during the disintegration of uranium to a lighter element, thorium, and finally to lead. By this uranium calendar, shooting stars ranged in age from seven billion down to only 70 million years.

Dr. Bauer's studies showed that the helium in shooting stars is probably mostly from impacts with cosmic rays and that the meteors may be about the same age as the earth, which is recorded as about two billion years.

110 Servants

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA—Getting and keeping one servant may be a great problem to most Americans, but each average citizen of this country has the equivalent of 110 servants working for him 24 hours a day. An SKF Industries study of electric power shows that the installed capacity of the nation is equivalent to 11 horsepower for every American. One horsepower is estimated to equal 10 working men.

Mrs. Matilda Thomas Wells, 85, elected to the honorary office of "Mother" of the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry of Spanish-American war veterans at a meeting at Marysville in 1934, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Roberts of East Church street.

Where Are Our Guts?

By JOSEPH ALSOP

ENROUTE, ROME TO PARIS, Sept. 30—Through the train windows the sun-warmed, always various Italian countryside, green and gold and silvery olive with the crops that climb to the very hilltops, unrolls before the eye. Within the car, a large Italian family lunches with cries of pleasure on bread, a little cheap wine and a slab of cheese—a luxury meal for all but the very rich in Italy. Yet the traveler, moving onward from one center of world crisis to another, can think only of a single question: "Have we in the United States lost all the qualities that made us great?"

In connection with this question, some things stick in the mind like burrs. There is, for example, the history of Premier de Gasperi's appeal to President Truman.

About a month ago, this unpretentious, rather solemn man, who has survived without despair through two wars and the dark Fascist years between, began to despair at last. De Gasperi's government, boldly free of Communists, (at the suggestion of the state department) had been squarely based on the hope of American aid. No aid was forthcoming. The end of Italy's resources was clearly in sight in a few weeks. Accordingly, de Gasperi addressed to the White House a personal appeal, speaking as one head of state to another, and laying before the President all the grim facts. The appeal was presented by Ambassador Tarchiani, who was referred to the state department.

Referred to Snyder

At the state department, Tarchiani met with kindly sympathy and the suggestion that he ask Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder for aid. Of course, as any one vaguely familiar with Washington would certainly have anticipated, Tarchiani found Snyder frozen into the voluble but obstinate immobility which is customary at the treasury.

Or there is the episode of the visiting congressional delegation which invaded Rome under the brilliant leadership of Representative John Taber. One of Taber's colleagues, after hearing that the onset of starvation might drive the Italian people into Communism, remarked weightily that "what they need here is guns not bread." Representative Taber was not so realistic as to propose a general massacre of the inconveniently hungry poor. His solution, offered at the top of his voice as usual to a member of the Italian cabinet, was that the de Gasperi government borrow some money from the New York banks.

As his proposal indicates, Representative Taber at least has the excuse of never having quite learned that this is the twentieth century. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson has no such excuse. Yet Anderson has just complacently informed a world hungry for eight years and now in actual danger of something approaching general famine, that the rich and well fed United States will have to reduce food exports in this time of greatest need.

Looking Beyond

If Secretary Anderson could see beyond the next election, he would tell the American people something a trifle more complicated. He would say: "We can of course reduce food exports in the hope of lowering the home price level. It may well work. But before we do so, every one in the country should realize that the lowest price will be the hideous catastrophe of another war, and that quite possibly the very death of freedom in the world will be included in our little bill from fate."

Not dollars alone, so carefully guarded by that watch-hippopotamus of the treasury, Representative Taber, are involved in the present crisis. Food is also desperately important. Most Italians are even now living on a meal and a half a day, of which the full meal consists of the half pound bread ration.

This bread ration is now in danger of being cut, not merely because the Italian government cannot pay for wheat, but also because Secretary Anderson will not make wheat available. Very briefly, the Italian bread grain deficit until next spring's harvest amounts to about 2,800,000 tons. Of this, at least two million tons must come from the United States. Thus far Secretary Anderson has insisted that Italy can have only about half her minimum needs of wheat. If Anderson does not change his mind, next spring is likely to see a Communist regime installed at Rome. And the food shortage equally threatens France, western Germany and the United Kingdom.

Not the End

Nor are bread and dollars the end of the story, either. The well authenticated reports of Soviet and satellite forces massing in the Balkans indicate that the hand of the United States is also about to be called in Greece. In the American hand are three out of four aces—the only Soviet ace is the power to act. On the table on the American side, are three-quarters of the chips—it is in that proportion that the resources of the United States exceed the resources of the Soviet Union. Shall we lose the hand and the game from sheer political paralysis? Or have we still got the stuff of the Americans of the past, who not seldom bet their bottom dollars on what seemed like busted flushes, and came out of the game with a continent to leave to us, their more fortunate heirs?

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

It's All Done by the Cloak and Suit Trades.

Milady's wardrobe for this winter of 1947 is going to take us back to the McKinley versus W. J. Bryan era in spots. The dress industry's cry of "We can't get the material" has been replaced by an eager shout of "Tack on ten more yards, let the hips fall where they may!"

In some of those new coats with hoods attached the gals give the impression of trying to look partly like a Bundle for Britain and partly like a midget smuggling herself out of town.

We have seen blankets tossed over auto radiators that had more swank. And certainly fitted better.

When the wife struggles down Main street in one of those new fall numbers, she is carrying more sail than Old Ironsides or the Flying Dutchman.

The rest of momma's wardrobe will also carry out the excess material motif. If you can get a laugh out of those old red plush family album photos after seeing this season's fashion parade you are no judge of good comedy.

There are some frocks that make you wonder if they were turned out by a dress designer or a specialist in overstuffed upholstery. Nothing like them has appeared on the American scene since the passing of the bustle, the high-wheeled bike, the seashore tintype and the "Vote For Women" riots.

One thing seems fairly obvious about the new styles: if the women go for them in a big way on our streets it is going to kill the Macy parade

For once the men in the newsreel audiences are not falling asleep at the fashion revues. They find them funnier than the screen cartoons or the interviews with sweepstake winners.

The wasp waist, the padded shoulder, the long skirt and even something resembling the bustle are back. With bows, ruffles and drapes popping out all over.

And the millinery reflects the women-will-wear-anything mood, too. There are hats right out of the Easter parade in the days of the Rough Riders, Mark Hannas, the magic lantern and Edison's first talking machine.

However, why should a man complain? He doesn't look any too good. And, what's more, a change in his clothes won't help.

What we can't understand is why Vishinsky can't be barred from further fights for not going to a neutral corner after the knockdowns.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I've never known a man who didn't think he had good judgment. He might admit he was ignorant, couldn't hold licker, or was a sucker for a sob story, but when it came to judgment—brother, that was his dish! Maybe the guy had been married and divorced three times—but could he pick women! Maybe he'd been played for a sap in a business deal—but he sure knew a good thing when he saw it! Or maybe he'd picked 'em wrong all his life, but ask him to pick a winner—and he'd never hesitate.

I've known fellows who lived in a piano box and liked to pass judgment on first-rate building designs. There used to be a lot of judgment called into play in buying horses and later on in buying unknown and untried makes of automobiles. Millions got stung, but no one ever heard one of them admit he had poor judgment. They were sure of themselves—they knew. They sure did.

Maybe they'd been washed out of a couple of businesses because they fumbled too much, but no one talked more confidently than they did when advice was solicited. They knew all about stocks and bonds. Just ask them. Also first and second mortgages, what the public wanted, where to build a filling station and how deep to plant cucumber seeds.

It always has impressed me that with so many people possessing flawless judgment there should be so many mistakes. The truth is that everything that ever happened proved someone had darned poor judgment, because there always was someone who was sure it couldn't happen. All the machinery and ideas that didn't work, all the accidents, the buildings that collapsed, the wars, panics and so on meant someone whose judgment was faultless was wrong.

I have been brooding about this, kind of, because a lot of people are foisting their judgment off on us and chances are that 90 per cent of everything they tell us is wrong. It always has been. In fact, whenever the big judgment boys begin to nod their heads sagely that's a good time to put the chains on the doors and climb down into the cyclone cellar.

The rarest commodity in the world is judgment—good judgment, not what someone says is good judgment but the real thing, the kind that stands up under the acid test. If we could depend on finding it in the right places at the right time we'd have nothing to worry about. But I suggest that before taking anybody's word for it, we'd better look at their records. Who did these guys ever lick in a judgment contest? How many times have they guessed wrong? What's their batting average? When they say, "In my judgment etc." should we bust out laughing?

Tell the boys that one twelfth of the school year is over already, in case they haven't thought about it yet in that comforting way. Before long they can go back to being ignorant again.

SCENE OF HALF-MILLION HOLDUP. Loot in cash, jewelry and furs amounting to an estimated $500,000 is taken from patrons and management in the Mounds club (above), elaborate gambling and dining establishment near Painesville, by ten GI-clad gunmen who executed holdup during height of evening's activities.

Light on Watches Shed by Invention

Special to The Star

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — "Why, that is so simple that anyone could have thought of it!" is what most Hagerstown folks said when Sig Smith and Paul Willis invented the "visascope"

Smith, a local watchmaker, conceived the idea that it would be easier to see the little wheels and springs if he had a tiny searchlight shining into the dark crevices of the watch-case.

So he fitted out his monocle—the bell-shaped eye-piece that jewelers use—with its own head light.

It took Smith and his friend, Willis, almost a year to perfect the idea. In its final form, it has a head-piece so it can be pushed back on the forehead when not in use.

The lamp is surmounted on the shell that holds the magnifying lens, and is fixed at such an angle that the beam is aimed directly at the point of focus.

Club Holdup Seen As Work of Gang In Bucyrus Job

Lake County Sheriff James Maloney said today that he was without a single clue in the robbery of the swank Mounds club near Painesville early yesterday but said that the robbery "might very well" have been committed by "gangs" responsible for similar jobs in the Bucyrus Palm Supper club robbery over a year ago, and recent robberies in Akron, Kansas City, and St. Louis.

Sheriff Maloney was quoted by The Associated Press as including a Marion night club robbery in his list, but Marion police said that he must have confused the Bucyrus robbery with Marion, since there have been no Marion night club robberies. Several Marion residents, however, were robbed in the Bucyrus club holdup.

Patrons of the Painesville club, who admitted individual losses in cash, jewelry and furs totaling several thousand dollars, reported that the 300 victims of the holdup had been robbed of "an average" of $1,500 to $2,000 each in money and property, in addition to cash taken from the gambling "bank."

The new report by the patrons forced sheriff's deputies to increase their former unofficial estimate of the loot from $200,000 to $500,000.

Cleveland police, who were ordered by Safety Director William F. Smith to cooperate with Lake county authorities, meanwhile, expressed belief that bandits with war-acquired knowledge of military tactics staged the holdup.

They also said the gambling club robbery was similar to that of a Newton Falls, O., tavern in which five men took $2,700 two months ago.

Approximately 10 bandits robbed the club safe and about 300 patrons in the precision-staged Mounds holdup.

The ceremony was read Saturday, Sept. 6, at the Jackson Christian church by Rev. O. R. Clary, pastor. Only close friends of the couple attended.

Attendants were Mrs. Lessie Barrows, a sister of the bride, and F. V. Carpenter of Columbus, an uncle of Judge Everett.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip and are now making their home in Wellston.

The new Mrs. Everett has been nurse for the Jackson County Health district since January, 1940. She was graduated from Jackson High school and Rio Grande college, and received her nurse's training at the Schirrman hospital in Portsmouth and at the Cleveland Clinic.

Judge Everett was graduated from Wellston High school with the class of 1925 and the Ohio State university law school in 1929. He practiced law in Columbus for two years with an insurance adjustment company before starting practice in Jackson county. He was elected prosecuting attorney in 1931, serving from 1931 until 1935, and has been judge of the Common Pleas court since November 1936.

TAFT CALLS AID FIGURE TOO BIG

Approves Help for Europe But Terms $16,000,000,000 Excessive Amount.

By The Associated Press

EN ROUTE TO BOISE, IDAHO, WITH TAFT, Sept 30—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today "this country must do something to restore normal economic stability in Europe" but called a proposed $16,000,000,000 outlay for this purpose too large

The Ohio senator, traveling eastward on the last leg of a western political purse-taking tour, discounted the possibility of congressional action before next January on any European aid program

As head of the senate's Republican policy committee, Taft said he doubts that a majority of members of congress could be assembled in Washington from various parts of the world where they are on tour before December, even if President Truman calls a special session.

Answers Student's Question

In response to a question by a University of Idaho student at Moscow yesterday, Taft said he thinks a $16,000,000,000 outlay, possibly spread over all four years, is too much for Europe to expect from the United States

"What the amount shall be, I don't know," he said "But that $16,000,000,000 figure seems somewhat large to me"

His idea, the Ohio senator said, is that American aid should be limited to providing goods from this country that will help other nations pull themselves to their feet

Before he turned to discussion of international questions, Taft took a sideline fling into politics by dropping a remark in a Pullman, Wash., speech that college presidents should not concern themselves in politics

This remark came after President Wilson I Compton of Washington State college had introduced Harlan Peyton, Republican national committeeman, as G O P. state chairman Taft said that indicated Compton doesn't know much about politics, adding

"It is proper that college presidents have nothing to do with politics"

Reporters, scenting a jibe at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, asked Taft later if he meant to include the latter in this category since Eisenhower soon will become president of Columbia university The Army chief of staff is being mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, a role Taft may assume publicly later.

Laughing, Taft said he had no such thought in mind

APPEAL PLANNED ON AIRLINE DECISION

Seek Reconsideration of Marion Route.

An effort will be made to have the federal civil aeronautics board reconsider its refusal to grant Eastern Airlines corporation a permit for a north-south service through Marion

This became known at a recent meeting of the aviation committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce when Wilson Brown, a representative of Eastern Airlines, was present and stated his company would present a petition seeking reconsideration of the board's decision and invited Marion to join with them It is probable that Marion will formally present a petition to the board signed by representatives of the community, in keeping with Mr Brown's invitation.

J. B. Bray, chairman of the committee, discussed the board's decision in the Great Lakes area case which granted T W. A service to Marion and denied the applications of Eastern, United, Trans-Ohio and Delta airlines

Mayor Harry L. Dowle, and Safety Director E O Uncapher described at length the present status of the Marion airport construction The meeting was held Friday noon at the Manor House.

Film Showing Man Pierced by Sword Banned by British

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept 30—Dozens of film exhibitors cut from a British newsreel today a "horror" sequence supposedly showing a man being run through with a sword

Their action followed the death of a movie theater manager after viewing the scene at a private screening and reports of numerous cases of nausea and fainting among persons who have seen it.

Alfred Baylis of Chesterfield, Derbyshire, collapsed at noon yesterday after viewing the film and deciding not to run it in his theater. He died about three hours later

"It makes me feel queer," he told associates just before he fainted His death was attributed to a heart attack.

At an earlier public showing, some spectators fainted, others covered their faces and several walked out Similar reactions were reported in London, Manchester, Sheffield and other cities.

Howard Thomas, producer-in-chief for Pathe, which released the newsreel, said the controversial sequence was made at a demonstration before medical experts in Switzerland. It shows a sword being slowly pushed into a man who, it was explained, had spent years studying the methods of the fakirs in India.

Thomas said the company had no objection to deletions but that Pathe had no intention of withdrawing the reel.

AIRLINE CREW FAILS TO REPORT FOR DUTY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept 30—The crew of an American overseas airline plane which was to have left New York at 4 30 a. m. today for Washington, D C, before starting a trans-Atlantic flight, failed to report for duty, a company spokesman announced.

A few minute before, in Chicago, David L. Behncke, president of the AFL Air Line Pilots association, announced a mass walkout of the company's trans-Atlantic crewmen had begun at 4 a. m.

The first plane affected here was to have flown empty to Washington, picked up passengers there for a return flight at 7.50 a. m. and then to have left LaGuardia field at 10.30 a. m. for Frankfurt, Germany. The company said 17 passengers were scheduled to make the trip.

PAY BONUS VOTED KENTON EMPLOYES

Special to The Star

KENTON, Sept 30—The Kenton City Council, at a meeting last night, approved a 10 per cent "cost of living bonus" for all city employes exclusive of elective officials, and at the same time passed an ordinance calling for three per cent admission tax on most amusements to cover at least a portion of the added drain on the city general fund.

The 10 per cent "bonus" falls short of the flat $25 monthly wage increase asked by the employes in a petition to the council Sept 15, but represents all the city can stand at present, according to a report of the council finance committee which was assigned to study the question.

AID

Europe and is not expected back until late next month.

Makes 2 Moves

Since his return from visiting Brazil, President Truman has given most of his time to the question of aid for Europe, and made two major moves:

►Called for a campaign against waste of food in this country and appointed a committee to devise ways of increased saving.

►Asked the congressional committees to meet and study the matter of European aid.

On the President's calling list for the day were Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens food committee—the group named to push food saving.

Leaders of both parties agreed that submitting the proposal first to the foreign affairs and appropriations committees of the senate and house strikes them as the right approach.

Speaker of the House Martin (R-Mass) said he had suggested this course a month ago and added in an interview at Topeka, Kan.:

"The Republican congress and its committees will most certainly cooperate."

Martin declared he believes the President is leading up to a special session call "late in November."

friend of his daughter's and he thought she had seen him only a few times Mrs. Green said she knew Mrs. Shappard and the boys "just slightly" and thought her to be "a nice little woman."

Father Doubts Story

The father said that he "believed Roxie died right here in the road I don't think she would have gotten into his car voluntarily. She was such a nice girl, always so quiet"

He continued by saying it was hard to believe that some one hadn't heard the girl's screams He expressed the belief that the girl was "not on the running board, I'm sure of that, she was in the car" After pausing for an instant he continued, "I wish she had been able to escape by jumping from the car. It would have been better if she was hurt and left lying out here At least she would be alive" He scoffed at Shappard's statement that he was taking her to a doctor, saying, "that was a lie, he was going away from any doctor and heading along country roads—" Mr. Green paused again then said in disgust, "going to a doctor—he just wanted to get where he could kill her. It's a pretty lonely spot out there"

When informed yesterday of Shappard helping to hunt for the hammer, both parents said they simply couldn't understand how he could be so calm and apparently interested in searching for the murder weapon

Relatives Notified

News of the girl's death has been sent to relatives and Mr Green said he expected two of his sisters Mrs Juanita Camera of Richmond Hill, N Y, and Mrs John B Hickey of Boston, Mass., to fly here for the services. He expected them to arrive at the Columbus airport Other members of the family who are expected are Robert Green of Columbus, an uncle of the girl, her oldest brother, Carl Jr. of Worthington and Mrs. Green's father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs Harold Smith of Utica, O

Cuba Nabs Invasion Army Aimed at Island Neighbor

HAVANA, CUBA, Sept. 30—Cuban army authorities said today that a 1,500-man expeditionary force poised to overthrow President Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic had been broken up. Col. Oscar Diaz, the army's chief investigator, said some of the plotters, after their plan to invade the Dominican Republic had failed, had conspired against the Cuban government.

The Cuban senate immediately launched an investigation of the whole affair. Col. Diaz said he had turned over to the supreme tribunal many documents in the case.

Herbert Rests Well After Minor Surgery

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Sept. 30—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert was resting comfortably today at University hospital after undergoing another skin-graft operation on the leg which was badly injured when his Army plane crashed overseas during World War I.

Hospital attaches said he probably would be "up and around again" within two or three days. He underwent a similar operation two years ago, but it left him with a slight limp.

The governor entered the hospital yesterday to correct the limp.

CALIFORNIA HEIRESS WEEPS AT TRIAL

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif, Sept. 30—For the first time since she and her lover George Gollum, went on trial 18 weeks ago, Louise Overell wept in court as the prosecution accused her of conspiring with Gollum to kill her wealthy parents

Soft-voiced Henry Dietz, assistant attorney general, told the jury yesterday in beginning the state's closing argument against the young collegians, charged with murdering Mr and Mrs Walter E. Overell, that 18-year-old Louise had no respect for the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother," because

"Only a few hours after her parents had been murdered, she had no hesitancy whatever in dumping piles of clothes and rearranging her mother's bedroom in the family mansion in Flintridge" (a Pasadena suburb).

"She was getting ready to occupy with Bud Gollum the bedroom of her mother Why did she go to the Flintridge home of her parents after their deaths last March 15" Why did she elect to go there instead of to the home of Bud's parents, Mr and Mrs Joseph Stomel"

"She and Bud went to Flintridge without a chaperon"

Bert West, associate counsel for Louise, was to follow Dietz in the closing arguments, which will continue through Thursday. The jury will be given the case Friday.

KILLING FROST TO HIT UNHARVESTED CROPS

By The Associated Press

Ohio's unharvested corn, soybean, tomato and pumpkin crops, already badly damaged by last Saturday's severe frost, will be hit by the state's first general killing frost and freezing temperatures of the season tonight or tomorrow morning, the weather bureau said.

"The unharvested crops already have been pretty badly hit," George S Mindling, U. S meterologist at Columbus, said, "and the forecasted frost tonight will give what's left a pretty black eye"

Northern Ohio, particularly the area around Toledo, received a preview last night. There was a frost in the area and the low reading of 33 in Toledo was coldest of the season in that city.

Mindling said killing frosts have been recorded in most counties north of Columbus, but that the one forecast for tonight will be the first severe frost in the southern section

RUSSIANS SEEN SLURRING U.S.

Comparison of Truman to Hitler Believed Opening Gun of Press Campaign.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—An increasingly violent anti-American campaign by Russian press and radio was predicted today by U. S officials examining Moscow's propaganda line.

They said the attack on President Truman by a Russian magazine which compared him with Hitler indicates a decision to pull out all the stops.

One official expressed belief the Russians have given up any hope of winning favor from the American public and will concentrate now on trying to discredit the United States in the Soviet Union and abroad.

Vishinsky Speech Eyed

The "war-mongering" accusation against nine Americans by Andrei Vishinsky, deputy Russian foreign minister, in a United Nations assembly address Sept 18 was viewed as part of the campaign

The latest Soviet-American disagreement came to light yesterday when the state department announced that the American embassy in Moscow has emphatically protested criticism of Mr Truman in the Russian publication "Literary Gazette No 39"

Butter increased ¼ cent a pound in the New York commodity markets with AA grade selling at 78½ cents

In the Chicago livestock market prices of cattle and hogs rose on heavy demand. Top steers rose 55 cents a hundred pounds to a 1947 high and a new September record price of $35 90. Hogs were up 25 to 75 cents to the highest average level in nearly three weeks. Top loads rose 50 cents to $28 85, the highest price in a week.

MICHIGAN PASTOR IS SPEAKER HERE

Henry Savage on Youth for Christ Program.

Marion Youth for Christ Saturday night in the hall, Dr. Henry Savage Mich., pastor of First church there, and a radio was speaker, and spe- was by a trio from eld. The musicians were Reba Thompson and Art who sang, accompanied Eileen Gruneisen. Dr. C. director, presided and special accordion music. were offered by Rev. J. of Bucyrus and Rev. Ellis of West Jackson. Marvin Lewis was in charge ffering. Pianists were Mrs. Baker and Miss Louise and Howard Jones led Marimba accompaniment Miss Dorothy Goyer. It announced that Rev. Max of Columbus will speak at ober meeting.

of Dr. Savage's message God says that those who tside of the Lord Jesus are already dead. There young people in the Marion that are dead to urch of Jesus Christ. It no appeal to them, no in- concern, and they have whether it has any- them or not. The world like to think they are because they think they are a good time. You won't get your name before the public, living a quiet life, letting Christ have the right of way. You may be a professing Christian, you may have your name on the church book, but if in your heart your greatest desire is concerning things of the world instead of going to prayer meeting, look out. The prince of the power of the air is the devil. You I have the idea that the most dangerous man in Marion is the man in the gutter, the drunkard, but he is not the most dangerous one. The most dangerous one is that highly respected, successful buiness man who has no time for Jesus Christ. The most dangerous woman is the one who may give of her talents to various organizations, and yet has no time for Jesus Christ.

Quality Seen Going By Boards in Grab For U. S. Husbands

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30—With more than twice as many unmarried women as men in the 20-34 age bracket, the trend today is "for the girls to get a man regardless of quality," Rev. Gilbert H. Appelhof, author and marriage counselor, says.

The Episcopal rector told a marriage class at the annual Methodist school of religion last night that marriage-minded girls above 22 "are becoming just a little bit anxious for fear they'll get left."

Dr. Appelhof, the author of "You Can Be Happy Married," declared more than half the women in the nation are married by the time they reach 22.

"If you want the right person," he advised, "you had better try hard to be the right person yourself. It's surprising how often 'like attracts like' works out' in marriage."

The class was one of 13 in a six-week institute sponsored by the Methodist Union of Cleveland. Twice as many women as men attended.

A study of 1,000 married couples, the rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal church in Berea said, showed they listed, in the order of importance, the following points to look for in a prospective mate:

Congeniality, general appearance, tolerance, economic security, health, sexual compatibility, love for children and the same religion.

Persons should definitely know what they want in a partner, he added.

UN SQUEEZE PLAY HITS CZECHOSLOVAKIA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Czechoslovakia appeared to be caught tightly today in a squeeze play between Russia and the western powers over election of three new members to the United Nations security council. It seemed that Czechoslovakia might have to take one of the seats despite her own campaign against election.

The campaign has been waged privately by the Czechoslovaks apparently in an effort to avoid inheriting Poland's "yes-man" role to Russia in the council.

If Czechoslovakia should not get a seat on the important 11-nation agency, then, diplomatic authorities predicted, Russia would find herself without a single friend on the council. Such a situation would carry the United Nations split in the big-power bloc to a length undreamed of even a few months ago. Involved in the balloting also are six seats in the economic and social council.

Three council members were slated for election by the full general assembly in a session at Flushing Meadows hall. This meeting was arranged to follow a morning session called to increase the total of UN membership from 55 to 57 nations through the addition of Yemen and Pakistan—both Moslem nations and a gain for the UN's Arab bloc.

3 Cars in Accident At Street Junction

A three-car accident involving damage to two of the cars occured at the Center and Prospect street intersection at 10:19 a. m. Monday.

According to the police report, a car driven by Jacob H. Hanawalt, 66, of 487 Evans road, was making a right turn from the center lane on West Center street to South Prospect street and forced a car driven by Samuel Rowe, 49, of 744 Creston avenue, going east on West Center, into a third car which was waiting for a green light on South Prospect street. The third car was driven by R. J. Booth, 35, of New Castle, Pa., who was northbound on Prospect.

Both the Hanawalt and the Rowe cars were damaged in the right front.

Marion Pupils Win In State Contest

The per pupil average was $10.20 and the total sales amounted to slightly more than $3,000. From the receipts the school has purchased an electric refrigerator, new football suits used for the first time this season and invested $175 in assembly programs.

NEW ECONOMIC CZAR INSTALLED IN BRITAIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 30—Vegetarian Sir Stafford Cripps took over today as Britain's economic czar. Informed sources said it was but the first installment of sweeping changes in the Labor cabinet.

There was general agreement among Britons that Cripps' appointment as minister of economic affairs to lead this dollar-short country's fight for economic recovery at home and aboard was a step in the right direction.

The choice of 31-year-old James Harold Wilson, the so-called "boy wonder" of the Labor government, as president of the board of trade to succeed Cripps was termed indicative of the government's decision to introduce new blood into the labor regime.

The resignation of Arthur Greenwood, a veteran Labor politician who had been a minister without portfolio, was considered to be a further demonstration of Prime Minister Attlee's determination to bring in younger men to fight the economic battle of Britain.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—U. S. Senator John W. Bricker says the "attitude of congress" is that the "people of Europe must go to work" before any American aid will be voted for European countries. The senator made the assertion yesterday before the Columbus Rotary club in a speech reviewing the past session of congress.

$1,000,000 FROST DAMAGE

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 30—Following a two-day survey, Wayne County Agent George A. Dustman estimated today that the county's 50,000-acre corn crop had suffered $1,000,000 in damage from last week's frost.

STRIKE

Van Burned street, a union member, $100 on summary contempt of court charges. A 60-day sentence to the workhouse was suspended pending good behavior. Woods in an altercation with Finley Rolling, a company employe, was alleged to have assaulted the latter in violation of the provisions of the court restraining order against the union interfering with company employes. The altercation was said to have taken place at a Sunoco Service Station on North Main street.

Strikebound since Aug. 21 when approximately 55 production workers left their jobs over the alleged discharge of a union employe by the company, the McMillen plant faces a serious loss to feed stocks now on hand, according to their petition for an injunction against the union.

The petition lists an inventory of soy beans, barley, corn and oats valued in excess of a million dollars" now in storage silos at the Mill here.

Claim Loss Possible

It is claimed in the petition that unless the grains are "turned" to prevent decomposition and combustion, irreparable harm will be done these stocks. At the time of the strike the company was in process of installing new conveyor equipment to "move" the grain and beans. This work their petition claims was halted when the strike occurred, preventing company employes and contracting agencies from completing this work.

In addition to halting processing of feeds here by the McMillen company which is estimated as handling about two thirds of the county's annual soy bean crop, the strike has implications, if continued, of interfering with the handling by the company of this year's crop.

It has been reported from UAW sources that the Railroad brotherhoods will respect the UAW picket line here which means that carloads of beans coming in and feeds going out will not be handled.

The company, however, upon order of the state fire marshal last week began to remove combustible stocks from the plant and to continue installation of the new conveyor equipment utilized in turning the grain.

Lead To "Incidents"

This move it was reported instigated the series of "incidents" leading up to Saturday's violence, issuance of the restraining order in court and subsequent police action.

Meanwhile in Galion, picketing continued peaceably at the North Electric company plant idled by a strike called by the UAW. Violence there last week resulted today in filing of a petition for an injunction against the union, its organizers and representatives. The petition was filed by company attorney Vernon Burt in Crawford county common pleas court at Bucyrus. Judge Clarence U. Ahl will hear the petition Friday morning. Attorney Burt said the company will seek to limit picketing and to prevent interference with company employes in entering or leaving the plant. The petition lists 19 defendants including Local 756.

Stolen Car Tire Goes Flat, Thief Steals Another

An automobile reported stolen Sunday morning from the Mapes and Beringer Motor Sales was found Sunday afternoon at Silver street and Milburn avenue, but another automobile, parked at the Pure Oil station at Silver and Milburn, was stolen in its place, police reported today.

The first car stolen, a 1937 Dodge, was found with a flat tire near the filling station, leading police to believe that the thief had taken the second car, a black 1935 Ford coach in its place.

Police believe that the Dodge license plates were switched to the Ford. They were dealers' plates reading D-31075.

Uhrichsville To Play Harding Here Friday

A reawakened Harding football team will move against the Uhrichsville Tigers at the Stadium Friday night in an attempt to add the Tiger skin to their 197 football trophies.

The Prexies will be hunting for their third straight win, having smashed Tiffin Columbian, 25-0, last Friday, and Columbia South 19-0 the week before.

The Uhrichsville Tigers won over Newcomerstown last Friday, 12-0, and lost to Dover, 21-0, on Sept. 19. The Tigers last year won five and lost four. Nine lettermen returned to the squad this year.

Harry "Chick" Maurer, head coach at Uhrichsville High school since 1941, has won more than half his football games and has a habit of sending his boys out to take the tough ones.

The Presidents loom as tough this year, having gained an average of 285 yards a game to their opponent's 137. Prexy Coach Pete Howison will again concentrate this week on offense to keep the yards gained figure climbing.

Still suffering from the ball carrier's disease, fumblitis, Prexy backs this week will try everything but glue to hold onto the ball. Last Friday the Prexies bobbled five times, recovering three of them. Season record on fumbles stand at 13 for Harding against five for their opponents. Fumbles proved costly to Harding in the opener with Fostoria which the Prexies dropped, 12-0.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30—Eddie Dyer signed a one-year contract yesterday to continue as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

No terms were announced, but when a reporter suggested the countered with a smile: "You are living" raise, owner Sam Breadon cuntered with a smile: "You are very clever." Dyer was there, and he smiled too.

Breadon said the contract was "mutually satisfactory" and then added: "I know some people in the east think the Cardinals are dead and buried, but I expect they will look up to us next year."

OHIOAN PITCHES WIN

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 30—Al Henencheck, dependable right-hander from Lorain, O., pitched the Raleigh Capitals to their second straight class C Carolina league playoff championship by turning back the Durham Bulls, 1-0, last night.

Final Unofficial Averages Point Reason For Success of Marion Baseball Club

Power at the plate and good fielding accounted for the success of the Marion Cubs this year, a glance at the final unofficial records of the Ohio State league compiled by the Howe News Bureau, shows.

The Cubs led the league in the total number of hits with 1,305 as compared with Muncie's 1,255. They were also tops in total bases with 1,783 against 1,747 by Muncie. The Cubs possessed the second best eye at the plate as they drew 821 base on balls compared to 913 by the pennant winning Zanesville Dodgers.

Marion had a team fielding record of 947 with the Dodgers in second place with 945. The eighth place Lima Terriers led the "runs booted in" department, with 371 errors. The Cubs committed 278 miscues.

Burbrink Leads Loop

Manager Nelson Burbrink, who jumped into the batting lead early in May, topped all the hitters with an average of 378 according to the latest figures which do not cover two games played by the Cubs. Bob Verrier, hard-hitting Richmond third baseman was second to the Marion skipper with a mark of 356.

Burbrink was also tops in two other departments. He was credited with the most runs scored and the most runs batted in with 114 each. Jack Maisch of Lima led in hits and total bases with 189 and 272 and in doubles with 37.

Howie Locke, Muncie speedster, led the loop in base stealing with 48 thefts. Bob Montag, Muncie outfielder, nosed out Dwight Maxhimer for the lead in home runs with 14 circuit clouts to 13 by Max.

Tom Sieradski of Zanesville was the loop's leading pitcher with an even dozen wins without a setback in regular season play. Cy Lambert, also of the Dodgers, won the most games as he racked up 23 victories while suffering eight losses. Bill Rosin led the Marion hurling corps with 11 wins and five defeats.

Following is a list of 10 leading batters among the players who participated in at least half of the games, and a record of the Marion players excepting pitchers batting under 200, and also a list of the 10 leading hurlers including the entire Marion staff:

OHIO STATE BILLED AT PURDUE SATURDAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—Ohio State's football team tightened its aerial defenses today in preparation for the Buckeyes' Big Nine opener with Purdue at LaFayette Saturday.

Ernie Godfrey, who scouted the Boilermakers last Saturday when Wisconsin beat Purdue, 32-14, reported that quarterback Bob DeMoss, one of the midwest's deadliest passers, would be the main threat to the Buckeyes.

Coach Wes Fesler and his staff, while not "fearing" Purdue, had in mind that DeMoss, figured largely in Pudue's 35-13 win over Ohio State two years ago and the 14-14 tie at Ohio stadium last fall.

Fesler didn't appear overly perturbed yesterday about the Purdue threat when he let his first and second string performers off with a padless light signal drill under Godfrey's guidance.

"Sure, a lot of passes will be completed against us," Fesler said, "but we'll complete a lot, too. We're expecting DeMoss to fire plenty next Saturday, but this boy Dick Slager of ours can throw that ball, too. He's really a good one, and will do plenty of damage before the season's over."

After studying motion pictures of Saturday's game with Missouri, Fesler said he was more convinced than ever that his 5-4-2 defense is good insurance against opposing runs and passes.

"The 5-4-2 really isn't a 5-4-2 at all," he said. "We always go into a 5-4-2 before the ball is tossed, but as soon as the play starts we swing into a 5-3-3, 6-4-2 or any of several other variations."

Police Investigate Bucyrus Break-ins

Special to The Star

BUCYYRUS, Sept. 30—Police are today continuing the investigation of the forced entry of the Smooth-Kool dairy and theft of cash and checks from the safe Sunday night or early Monday morning. Entrance was gained by prying open a garage door. The combination was knocked from the safe.

Also being investigated is the entrance of the Stull Service station where a staple had been pried loose, giving entrance to the tire room. Nothing was reported missing.

Hail, Riot, Windstorm, Explosion, Aircraft, Motor Vehicle, Smoke Damage

CANTON M'KINLEY LEAPS TO TOP RUNG OF SCHOOLBOY 11'S

Replaces Mansfield in List Compiled by Ohio Sports Writers.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—Weekend games on Ohio's High school football front shuffled the "10 top teams" standings as Canton McKinley's rugged Bulldogs, 32-7 winners over Warren's Presidents, took over the top rung.

Mansfield's Tygers, last week's front-runners, skidded to third place despite a 21-6 win over Sandusky, while Hamilton's Big Blue vaulted into second place with a rousing 52-0 victory over Lima South.

McKinley's conquets over Warren was the first in history for the Bulldogs on the Warren field, and Mansfield's win over Sandusky was the Tygers first since 1923 over the Streaks on their home lot. Mt. Vernon also got into the tradition-shattering act by beating Coshocton, 13-7, for the first Yellow Jacket victory there since 1924, Sophmore Dick Shuff scoring all 13 points.

Here's how the top 10 teams stack up, with the voting totals, in the state-wide poll of sports writers:

Canton McKinley (77).
Hamilton (67).
Mansfield (65).
Toledo Waite (61).
Middletown (55).
Steubenville (36).
Cleveland Cath. Latin (30).
Columbus West (20).
Portsmouth (19).
Massillon (17).

Fremont Ross missed the big 10 by a single vote, getting 16, while others mentioned included Alliance, Cleveland Shaw, Kenton, Barberton, Grandview, Columbus North, Youngstown East and Toledo Libbey, the latter picking up seven ballots despite the 14-7 loss to Toledo Waite before 16,000 fans.

Illinois Bars Graziano For Bad War Record

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 30—The Illinois athletic commission yesterday barred dishonorably discharged servicemen from boxing in Illinois in an order which Roy D. Keehn, commission member, said referred to Rocky Graziano, middleweight champion.

Keehn said the commission had accepted the war department's record of Pvt. Rocco Barbella as that of Graziano. That record showed Barbella was convicted, sentenced and dishonorably discharged from the Army on a charge of being absent without leave in 1942.

St. Mary To Invade Tiffin Calvert Lai

Irish football fans, mighty pleased with the St. Mary showing against the Carey Blue Devils last Friday night, are their chops for a St. Mary victory over Tiffin Calvert when the teams meet at Tiffin Friday.

St. Mary pulled the Carey game out of the fire in the half and trounced the favored Blue Devils.

Can Irish grid mentor Gene Fetter but set his boys on fire as they were Friday night, there'll be a third victory flag posted on the St. Mary scoreboard. They took Delaware Willis, 13-0, in their opener Sept. 12.

Last week the Irish started practice all over again and their drilling on fundamentals paid off. This week they're following up with drills on offense and defense which Coach Fetter hopes will prove as effective against a strong Tiffin Calvert.

Calvert sank Fostoria St. Wendelin, 27-0, last week. Fetter calls the coming St. Mary-Tiffin Calvert game the "toughest of the year for the Irish."

In eight contests with Calvert, St. Mary has won but one. Last year they lost to Tiffin, 19-7.

LIQUOR DEPARTMENT OVERCOMES DEFICIT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—[illegible] department of liquor control, which was $10,770,561 in the [illegible] July 8, now is in a position to pay its bills for the first time since February, Gov. Herbert's office reported today.

The department has a cash balance of $855,846 today, Herbert's office said, although the month-end profit and loss statement may still show a deficit because vouchers written fluctuate from day to day.

Credit for putting the department in black ink was given to the buying embargo ordered by Liquor Director Dale Dunifon shortly after he took office July [illegible]. All buying was frozen for seven weeks and since then the department has purchased only $[illegible]0,000 worth of liquor.

Orders previously averaged about $10,000,000 a month and on July 8 vouchers had been written and approved for $10,770,561 more than was available in cash. At that time, the department had an inventory valued at $45,710,145.

Dunifon said the department hasn't worked out a solution to its inventory problem.

New York's Pier Fire Still Smoulders Today

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Periodic outbreak of flames at the Grace lines of Pier 57, scene of the city's costliest harbor fire, continued to keep fire crews busy today.

The list of firemen injured while fighting the stubborn blaze, which broke out Sunday night, rose to 144. None was injured seriously. No ships were damaged.

The fire broke out in the timbers supporting the pier and spread toward two adjoining piers, Nos. 56 and 58. Chief of Operations Frank Murphy estimated the damage at $5,000,000.

Blame for Prices To Be Debated by 2 Senators

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 — Democratic national headquarters said today that Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) will engage in a formal radio debate next Monday night (9:30-10 p. m.) on "Who is to blame for high prices?"

The debate will be carried by stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System with O'Mahoney speaking from Denver and Taft from Cincinnati.

STOCKS INCH UPWARD IN NARROW TRADING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Leading stocks reached for further recovery in today's market although bidding urgency again was lacking.

Demand was based mainly on the hope that the list was in technical shape for a full upswing if the news permits.

Dealings tapered after a fairly active opening but fractional gains predominated near midday.

Pleasing dividends aided Union Oil of California and Burlington Mills. In front most of the time were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Columbia Gas (on an initial 7,500-share block), J. I. Case, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Kennecott, Southern Railway, Pacific Western Oil and International Paper. On the offside at intervals were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, North American, Du Pont, Southern Pacific and Standard Oil (NJ).

GAS

drilling, although the gas company was in the best position to profit. The result has been that an enormous potential acerage has not been developed," he continued.

"Stabilizing oil and gas production has gone to the point of pinching oil and gas production," he said. "This has become a campaign of pitting the haves against the have nots. They frighten a man who has gas into thinking he won't have gas, then he'll pay a higher price."

The president of the Ohio Home Builders association, A. J. Alexander of Agron, demanded that natural gas companies "lay their cards on the table if they want more money."

Sees Possible "Propaganda"

He declared the announced shortage of natural gas, plus similar prospects for fuel oil and gasoline, "might be a propaganda move to pressure congress into appropriations for military protection for foreign oil investments."

"The oil companies are largely owned by the same people," he told the hearing, which was attended by more than 100 persons ranging from gas company executives to individual home owners pleading for automatic gas heat for reasons of health or age.

"We had an identical scare after the last war," Alexander continued, "just as soon as those companies got a raise in price, we had all the gas we needed.

"The companies were franchized for domestic, not industrial service. Then they took to dumping their summer gas .

"They bilked the public into the idea of gas heat, they ought to take care of the publto," he said. "If they need more money, let them lay their cards on the table."

Alexander also demanded modification of the order for any sections of the state which were assured of a supply of natural gas.

"Some companies spent millions for storage," he said, "while others spent nothing and hoped by this order to get out-of-state gas. It's time for the public to know which companies are skimming the cream off."

Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland echoed Alexander's last statement by saying the East Ohio Gas Company had told him it was in "a little better shape" to serve heating customers and the only people who suffered in Cleveland last winter were the industrial users.

"I recognize the commission is faced with an emergency," Mayor Burke said, "but there is a balancing emergency. Our housing situation is more critical."

COOPERATIVE STORE SET

By The Associated Press

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 30—A cooperative grocery store serving this district's 7,000 National Brotherhood of Operative Potters will open here soon, brotherhood officials said today, to help the union's members combat the "terrifically high cost of living."

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'M afraid I was pretty severe with Noel," Dr. Twitchell went on. "But he's a pretty hard person to convince."

"Did you get him completely convinced?" Dicky asked ferociously. "Because if you didn't, I'll go down and complete the job with a baseball bat or anything else that's handy."

The old physician smiled a bit smugly.

"I don't think any more persuasion will be necessary," he said. "Before I left home, he agreed unconditionally to the course I have plotted for him in dealing with his wife. But I think he is taking too much to heart the warnings I gave him of the possible emotional consequences to his wife if he insisted on presenting her with any more of his ideas on this particular subject.

"For instance," he continued, "he exclaimed just before I left: 'Good God, Dr. Twitchell, have I done serious damage to my wife by my talk. Have I hurt her emotionally beyond repair? Have I set her back on the road to recovery?'

"I tried to assure him that none of those things were true; that his wife was nearly recovered. But I am sure he did not hear me. When I left, he was sitting with his head in his hands, evidently sunk in the depths of remorse."

Good 'At That

"He's especially good at that," Dicky said caustically, but I shot a chastening look at him.

"He probably is really suffering," I said. "Do you think I should go down? Should he be left alone?"

"He is in no danger," Dr. Twitchell replied, a bit tartly, answering, as I knew, my involuntary but unspoken criticism. "And there was nothing I could possibly do for him. He needs friends and affectionate counsel, not professional care."

"Under no circumstances," he went on, "do I wish him to know I have told you anything about this. If he does not call you in, say, ten more minutes, make some excuse to go down. Pretend you have forgotten something. You will know how to deal with the situation once you get there. And, now, I will bid you good day."

He raised his hat a bit stiffly, and started for the stairs. But I knew what I had to do, and I did it quickly.

With a rueful look at Dicky, I started after the old physician before he had reached the top of the stairs, and put my hand compellingly on his arm when I caught up with him.

Must Thank Him

"You mustn't go until I have thanked you for what you have just done," I told him warmly. "Nobody else in the world could have solved this difficult problem for us. And it means so much to all of us. We are so grateful to you. We never can be able to repay you."

"It was nothing but my routine duty," Dr. Twitchell protested. But his face glowed with satisfaction, and the resentment vanished from his eyes. "Glad to have been able to help."

Back in Dicky's studio, when the old physician was safely out of hearing, my husband eyed me quizzically.

"You sure buttered and sugared that particular waffle on both sides," he bantered. "The goo is trickling all over the hall floor."

"I had to," I said defensively. "He had taken offense at what I said about leaving Noel alone. I couldn't let him go away feeling resentful."

Flattering Accent

"No, you couldn't," Dicky said, with a flattering accent on the pronoun. "But a lot of people could. What are you going to do about Noel?"

"I can't do anything but wait for the ten minutes Dr. Twitchell advised," I said. "But you can."

"Me?" Dicky exclaimed. "Where do I fit into the picture?"

"I want you to flag Phil Veritzen, and do it quickly," I said.

"You're sure you don't mean 'smack'?" My husband asked insinuatingly.

"That's up to you," I returned. "But I want you to hurry up there now; tell him that Noel has just had an interview with Dr. Twitchell about Mary that has upset him tremendously; that I am going to keep him down in my studio, if possible until it is time for him to dine with Mary and that I may come up for some clothing for him presently."

"Why can't I get the clothes?" Dicky demanded.

Thinks Madge Alone

"Because," I told him, "Noel thinks you are far away, and that I alone am in the studio. That's one reason I want you two to get out as quickly as possible. He might take it into his head to come up here instead of telephoning me."

"I'm already on my way," Dicky said, starting for the door. "Is there anything else you want me to tell Phil?"

"Yes," I said, hurrying my words. "Tell him not to speak to Noel about the topic Phil and I were discussing until Noel is over this emotional crisis. Also assure him that Mary is regaining her memory most satisfactorily. And don't come back here till you're sure it's safe."

With his hand on the doorknob, he grinned teasingly at me.

"And how many pages of the play shall I tell him you have written today?" he queried, then dodged through the door as I started toward him threateningly, and I heard his feet clattering down the stairs from the penthouse to the top floor of the Lansfield which housed the luxurious "owner's suite."

But I had no chance either to smile at his teasing, or to resent it.

The telephone rang insistently and when I answered it, I heard Noel's voice, low and broken.

"Aunt Madge! Could you come down right away," he asked.
